

EUROPEAN INTERNET SAFETY DAY

Children and Young People's Use of Mobile Phones

February 8, 2005

76 Portland Place
London, W1B 1NT
United Kingdom

Revised Provisional agenda:

09:15 Registration, Coffee & Pastries

09:45 Conference opens

Minister Paul Goggins has been invited to attend.

Richard Swetenham from the European Commission will speak about the European awareness network, which has been funded by the European Commission's Safer Internet Action Plan.

Representative from Council of Europe (to be confirmed).

Young people's perspectives: A group of young people from a specialist technology college will discuss their experiences of the benefits and risks associated with various aspects of mobile phone use, including moblogging, chat, accessing different kinds of content, etc.,

11:00 Panel 1: Mobile Operators

Hamish McLeod: Co-ordinator of Mobile Broadband Group (MBG), will discuss mobile operators' experiences to date in terms of implementing and running the policies outlined in the Code of Conduct document.

Annie Mullins, Content Standards Manager, Vodafone Global Product and Content Services will speak about the launch of 3G, emerging trends in mobile environments, and mobile operators' research based perspective of parent's views about their children's use of mobile technologies.

Angus Cormie, Head of Portals -02, will discuss (awaiting confirmation)

Q&A session: Representatives from the UK's 5 mobile operators will answer questions from the audience.

12:30 Lunch

13.30

Panel 2: Mapping existing and future strategies

Stuart Hyde, the Association of Chief Police Officers' (ACPO) spokesman on 'Combating Child Abuse on the Internet' and Assistant Chief Constable of West Midlands Police, will outline the proposal for a National Centre for Internet Safety.

Peter Robbins, Chief Executive of Internet Watch Foundation will discuss (awaiting confirmation)

	14.35 – 16.20 Parallel Session A Education	14.35 – 16.20 Parallel Session B Recreation	14.35 – 16.20 Parallel Session C Law enforcement
20 mins	Ruth Hammond from Becta will address the issue of children accessing harmful content in both school and non-school environments and whether or not the current perceived dichotomy between home and school internet access is viable in the context of mobile devices.	Jo Bryce (UCLAN) will review what trends are emerging in respect of children’s use of mobile games, what the risks and opportunities presented by mobile and wireless gaming technologies are, and how these can enhance our understanding of children’s access to other forms of media content through these platforms.	Jim Gamble, National Crime Squad Assistant Chief Constable will speak about global crime prevention and crime reduction strategies designed to combat child abuse and to make the on-line environment safer.
20 mins	Constance Audren, MSN UK will outline the experiences of developing mobile safety information for the www.websafecrackerz.com site.	XBOX perspective (to be confirmed)	Damian Morgan, High Tech Computer Crime Unit, West Midlands Police, will speak about the challenge of performing near-real-time forensic collection and analysis in operational environments, E-evidence and issues around the admissibility of e-evidence in a court of law.
20 mins	John Carr from Children’s Charities’ Coalition for Internet Safety (CHIS) will outline issues around location aware services.	Roger Bennett from The Entertainment and Leisure Software Publishers Association (ELSPA) will provide an overview of how certification works (or will work) in the mobile environment, and the potential challenges the existing regulatory environment may encounter through the migration of gaming to wireless networks.	Kevin Mansell, National Specialist Law Enforcement Centre (NSLEC) for high tech crime training, will explore the training needs for law enforcement agents in the area of mobile phone evidence collection and examination.
20 mins	Robin Blake, Media Literacy Manager at Ofcom will discuss the complexities of issues surrounding safe use of mobile phones from a media literacy perspective.	John Phillips, from company Aristotle will talk about age verification systems.	Andy Williams, National Mobile Phone Crime Unit, will explore issues around mobile phone theft.
25 mins	Q&amp;A	Q&amp;A	Q&amp;A

Plenary session: Chairs from each Panel session will report back and a final discussion of the issues raised throughout the day will take place.
Conference close 17.00 pm